GOV. HENDRICKS AND INDIANA.

[Saratoga Letter in N. Y. Tribune.] Murat Halstead, of Cincinnati, remarked that Governor Hendricks had yielded to Governor Tilden's wishes an the interpretation of the financial plank of the platform. He thought Gov. Tilden's original plan was to make the fight in the hard-money states, disregarding the clamor of the Western soft-money Democrats, and relying on the blind adherence of the South and the Derringer element in its politics to secure every state below Mason and Dixon's line. He thought Governor Hendricks had objected to this plan in his belief in the tradition that the October states decide the presidential contest, and that he ought to be allowed to carry Indiana. This probably was a prominent point of difference between Governor Tilden and Governor Hendricks: Mr. Halstead believes that the Democrata have lost their hold on Indiaua, that a concession on Governor Tilden's part to Governor Hendricks would not have saved the state, and that the latter's professions of hard-money doctrines will make matters werse.

Gov. Hendricks had always been extremely careful about his utterances on finance, and it might be difficult to find anything in his published speeches which proved him an advocate of soft money. Still, no later than last fall, Gov. Hendricks had worked for the election of Allen, in Ohio. He was too deeply involved in the soft-mouey record of Ohio and Indiana to play the hard-money reformer at home. The Warren & Durfee points with all trains for the West and tions he placed on the resolution were the true south, should satisfy every one that this is the noutre. Should you desire a map platform. Gov. Hayes had greatly platform to the Republican platform. of this line, or any information regard-ing time or rates, the same will be gladly by his interpretation of the Republican platform furnished upon application, either by written in a spirit of candor, honesty, and genuine conviction.

BURLINGTON Hawk Eye: Which one of the two men would you trust? Which one of the two great political parties of the day will you trust for the next four years? A COTEMPORARY is responsible for the following:

"At one of our fashionable hotels the other day, a colored waiter innocently asked a guest of the Democratic persussion whether he preferred his eggs boiled hard or soft? The reformer Has now ready for spring delivery 200,000 lifted up his glaring eyes and said "this Apple Trees. 10,000 Evergreens, 20,000 is too much," he had been bored and annoyed with this question enough on his way from St. Louis, and now to have it put to him squarely by a saddle in the nursery line—will set and insure this spring, if wanted. Prices and cata hard or soft? was too much, and he forthwith left the hotel and traveled We temuttering, "I wish Henden and Tildrick were in China before they
